The future can only be tamed in a projectised way

- In 1992, Centre for Excellence in Project Management (CEPM) started to spread PM movement in India. UNDP supported CEPM's initiative. This annual event is considered to be one of the major PM events, globally.
- You measure your company's success by the success of your projects (better projects, better future).
- Project management is the fastest growing discipline.
- In the last 10 years, there has been a 60-fold increase in the total number of certified project managers. Estimated over 600,000 as on 2008 globally.
- Methodology in measuring an organisation's project management maturity level is the hottest topic of research.
- Fortune 500 companies are becoming more competitive by using the concepts of Business by Projects.
- Uncertainty management and change processes can only be handled through project life cycle approach
- Delay means out of race.
- Global Symposium 2008 is where top management, managers and executives learn and share the most contemporary trends in the field of project management.

Join the Certification In Project Management movement

Project Management Associates (PMA), India has created a new milestone in promoting Certificate In Project Management (CIPM) launched in July 2007. PMA, India is a National Member of IPMA. PMA, India has recently signed MoU with IGNOU for PGCIPM.

There are over 75 major organisations who have initiated CIPM. Some of the major ones are: • Genpact • NTPC • NHPC • IBM • Nuclear Power • L&T • SAIL • Mazagon Dock • Coal India • Max Healthcare • Xansa • HCL Technologies • IGNOU • Lanco • OPGC • SRF • GMR Group • Ramky Infrastructure • GAIL • Neyveli Lignite • RITES • Oil India • Sattujal Vidyut • Tehri Hydro • MECON • Power Grid • Reliance Infrastructure • Jindal Steel & Power • NEEPCO • Perkins Elmer • Jubliant
